The SSWP helps second and third-year OSU CVHS students gain valuable real-world experiences while also minimizing student debt. It allows the participating practitioner to participate in the educational experience directly as well as interacting with future associates. Students need to make summer work plans early and will be contacting clinics directly. Complete the above contact information and return it to the OVMA office. The OVMA will compile all clinics interested in the SSWP and pass along the information to the students. OSU CVHS students will directly contact any clinic they are interested in working for from the contact information listed above. SSWP is a collaboration of the Oklahoma Veterinary Medical Association and the veterinary students at Oklahoma State University. Thank you for your active involvement in providing an outstanding opportunity for the future of veterinary medicine. If you have any questions, please contact the OVMA office.
